Call-to-Order and Opening Remarks

Following the Pledge of Allegiance, Tatiana Rice, PTA president, brought the meeting to order at 6:37 PM. The meeting, originally scheduled for originally scheduled for November 15th, was postponed due to inclement weather.

Commandant Pullella's Report

To date, 178 applications for DMA's Class of 2023 have been received. There has been confusion about the application, specifically about the second question. Administration is addressing that confusion. All candidates who want an admissions interview will get one.

Construction on the stadium will begin on April 1, 2019. Targeted completion is still August 2019. There will be no more delays.

The DMA Board voted to buy St. Matthew's. The 65,000 square feet of space includes a gym, church, rectory and school. Close to 85% of the space will be "gifted" to DMA. St. Matthew's parishioners will be able to use the church lease-free. DMA has plans to establish a middle school however all of this is contingent upon approval from Red Clay.

Delaware Military Academy recently earned an "Exceeds Expectations" rating from the Delaware Department of Education.

DMA is currently cultivating a $350,000 donation from the Ellice and Rosa McDonald Foundation. This generous donation would cover the balance of the stadium.

Thank you to everyone for another great Veteran's Day breakfast.

65% of cadets have achieved academic honors. Eight students met with the Academic Review Board.

While block scheduling is found to be beneficial for most students, Mr. Pullella understands concerns about student athletes missing the same classes when leaving early for games. He will talk to administration about the possibility of implementing a rotating schedule.

Mr. Pullella will attend a Pearl Harbor ceremony down state with Delaware Military Academy co-founder, Charles Baldwin. DMA cadets will participate in Newport's annual Pearl Harbor ceremony.

Sports Boosters annual Pancake Breakfast will be held on December 8th. All are invited to attend.

Maryann Yarram, Delaware Military Academy parent

Ms. Yarram attended the PTA meeting to express her concerns about the increase of vaping and juuling among teens. She began the discussion with the question “how do we empower our kids to make the right decisions?”

Ms. Yarram provided copies of a power point presentation and other helpful handouts regarding vaping, e-cigarettes, and juuling. She will work along with administration to get the power point running in the mess hall.

A lively discussion ensued, and lots of opinions and ideas were shared. Mr. Pullella re-iterated that staff and administration will continue to educate and stress to cadets the importance of making good choices.

Special thanks to Ms. Yarram for bringing this issue to the PTA meeting and for her continued efforts in educating our cadets.
